Reach for the stars!

Can you see the moon hidden behind a cloud? Do you see a doggie at the controls of a rocket? You will soon take a closer look at them. You will remember how you were just "taking off" from the ground and looking down at the front of the rocket pointing to the sky.

And what color will your cosmic measuring cup be? Let your imagination run wild, color the rocket with crayons, felt-tip pens or paints, hang it on the wall and color mark how much progress you have already made. The changes will be big, we promise! The stars are not far away. Soon you will reach for one of them.
